Frosty Mornings

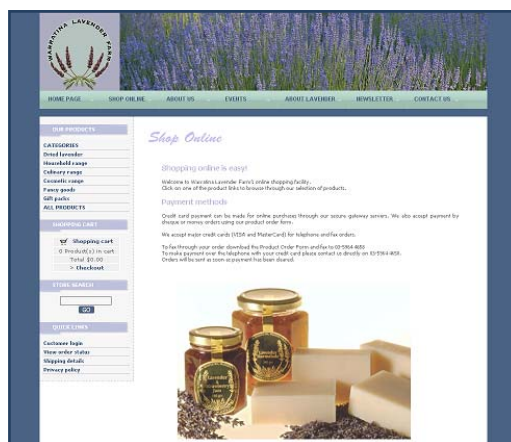

Late winter to early spring can bring cold and unpredictable weather. Be careful as late frosts can blacken young lavender spikes and they won't bloom.

Dead spikes are best removed by lightly pruning to allow new spikes to form and promote flowering slightly later in the season. Frost can cause damage to other parts of the plant as well, resulting in the browning of stems and leaves.

A way to combat frost is to plant lavenders against a sunny wall, in pots or move into a more sheltered position.
